I. Introduction and Methodology

Since 2011, the Syrian regime has been denying executing any arrests and, instead, accuses Al-Qaeda and terrorist groups, such as ISIS, of it. Additionally, the Syrian regime doesn't acknowledge any torture or death-due-to-torture cases.

Fadel Abdul Ghany, chairman of SNHR, says:

“The norm of ‘Responsibility to Protect’ must be implemented in light of the government’s failure to protect its people, and the fruitlessness of the diplomatic and peaceful efforts so far. Crimes against humanity and war crimes are being perpetrated every day in Syria and mainly at the hands of the organs of the state itself.”

The fourth round of negotiations was held in Astana city, Kazakhstan’s capital, on 3 and 4 of May 2017. Russian, Turkish, and Iranian representatives attended as the sponsoring states of Ankara Ceasefire Agreement. The three states agreed on establishing four de-escalation zones, wherein the agreement is to commence on May 6, 2017. Following an extensive round of talks between Russia, USA, and Jordan that commenced in May 2017 in Amman, Jordan’s capital, the American and Russian presidents announced, on the sidelines of the 2017 G20 summit in Hamburg, that a ceasefire agreement has been reached in southwestern Syria – Daraa, Quneitra, and Suwayda governorates. The agreement went into force at 12:00 on Sunday July 9, 2017, and provided for the passage of humanitarian aids in addition to a ceasefire between the conflicting parties (Syrian regime forces and their allies on one side, and armed opposition factions on the other side).

In addition, there have been a number of other local agreements, such as Eastern Ghouta agreement between armed opposition factions, on one side, and officials from the Russian side, while a similar agreement was struck with the opposition in northern suburbs of Homs. However, the texts of these agreements haven't been made public on Russian government's websites, and the same for armed opposition factions who didn't publicize these agreements, except for Failaq al Rahman who published the text of the agreement on their official website. At the end of the agreement, according to the copy on Failaq al Rahman's website, a signature by a Russian sponsor was shown but without an explicit name, which is a great flaw, as apparently all of this helps the sponsoring Russian side to easily dissolve themselves from these agreements with no subsequent political or legal obligations and repercussions.

On Saturday, July 22, 2017, Russian Ministry of Defense announced that a de-escalation agreement has been signed in Eastern Ghouta following a round of talks between Russian military officials, on one side, and Jaish al Islam faction, on the other side, in Egypt's capital Cairo. The agreement was to come into effect at 12:00 of the same day. On Wednesday, August 16, 2017, a Failaq al Rahman representative and a Russian representative have signed an agreement in Geneva city that established Failaq al Rahman's inclusion in the de-escalation zone in Eastern Ghouta. The agreement was to come into effect at 21:00 of Friday, August 18, 2017.

On Monday, July 31, 2017, another de-escalation agreement was signed in Egypt's capital Cairo for northern Homs suburbs and southern Hama suburbs following a round of talks between armed opposition factions in the area and the Syrian regime represented by the Russian government as a sponsoring party, as the agreement was to commence at 12:00 on Thursday, August 3, 2017.

Most notably, the two most recent agreements provided for a full cessation of hostilities between the conflicting parties in the relevant areas -with the exclusion of the areas in which ISIS and Hay'at Tahrir al Sham are present- and for humanitarian aids to enter these areas and for detainees to be released as per the demands of each party as to which detainees are to be released.

Nonetheless, breaches didn't stop, mainly by the Syrian regime, who is seemingly the party that would be most affected should the ceasefire go on, and in particular extrajudicial killing crimes and, more horrendously, deaths due to torture. This strongly asserts that there is a ceasefire of some sort on the table, but the crimes that the international community -especially the sponsoring parties- won't see are still going on as nothing had happened.

Methodology

In light of the Syrian regime's refusal to acknowledge torture and death-due-to-torture cases, SNHR obtains information from either former detainees, or families. Most of the families get information about their detained beloved ones by bribing the officials in charge.

We, in SNHR, refer to the families' accounts. It should be noted that the Syrian authorities usually don't give back the dead bodies of the prisoners to their families. Also, in most cases, families are scared to go and get the dead bodies of their relatives or even their personal items from military hospitals out of fear of being arrested themselves.

Most of the families we contacted have assured that their relatives were in good health at the time of their arrest and illness couldn't have been the cause of death.

Therefore, SNHR encounters serious difficulties in the documentation process on account of the ban imposed against it and the fact that its members are being pursued by various parties. In light of such circumstances, it might be difficult to fully verify deaths as the process remains subject to ongoing documentation and verification while taking in consideration families' accounts.

II. Executive Summary

A. Victims of torture in 2017

SNHR has documented that 161 individuals died due inside official and non-official detention centers at the hands of the parties to the conflict in Syria between the start of 2017 and September of the same year.

B. Victims of torture in August 2017

SNHR has documented no less than 32 deaths due to torture inside Syrian regime's official and non-official detention centers in August 2017.

Deaths due to torture are distributed as follows:

A. Syrian regime forces (army, security, local militias, Shiite foreign militias): 27

B. Extremist Islamic groups:

- ISIS (self-proclaimed the Islamic State): 1

- Hay'at Tahrir al Sham (a faction that includes al Nussra Front, Lewa' al Haq, Jabhat Ansar al Din, and Jaish al Sunna): 3

C. Armed opposition factions: 1

Deaths due to torture have been an ongoing phenomenon since 2011, this is an explicit indicator on the systematic violence and excessive forces used against detainees.

Daraa governorate saw the highest toll of victims dying due to torture with eight individuals. The remaining toll is distributed across governorates as follows: 7 in Idlib, 3 in Damascus, 3 in Aleppo, 2 in Homs, 2 in Hama, 2 in Latakia, 2 in Deir Ez-Zour, 2 in Suwayda, 1 in Damascus suburbs.

Distribution of Victims Who Died due to Torture in August 2017

Most notable cases of deaths due to torture in August are:

Two teachers, one university student, one child

III. Most Notable Deaths due to Torture

University students

Ibrahim Hasan al Ash, university student at the faculty of law in Aleppo University, from Kafr Hamra village, northern suburbs of Aleppo governorate, was 23 years of age at the time of the arrest. He was arrested by Syrian regime forces in July 2013 from Aleppo city. On Saturday, August 12, 2017, we received information confirming his death due to torture inside a detention center.

Teachers

Hekmat Abdul Karim al Hmoud, a teacher with a degree in Arabic, from Abu al Thohour town, eastern suburbs of Idlib governorate. In June 2017, he was arrested by fighters from Hay'at Tahrir al Sham in suburbs of Idlib governorate. On Saturday, August 19, 2017, we received information confirming his death due to torture at one of Hay'at Tahrir al Sham's detention centers in Idlib governorate. His dead body has been delivered to his family.

Osama Mohammad Mer'ie al Latif, teacher with a degree in philosophy, from al Mayadin city, eastern suburbs of Deir Ez-Zour governorate, was born in 1958. He was arrested by Syrian regime forces in 2013 at a checkpoint on the road between Ras al Din, in northern suburbs of Hasaka governorate, and al Mayadin city. On Monday, August 21, 2017, we received information confirming his death due to torture at a Syrian regime detention center in Damascus city.

IV. Conclusions and Recommendations

SNHR can confirm that this considerably huge number of victims who are dying due to torture every month, with taking into consideration that the actual number of deaths is most likely higher, unequivocally indicates a systematized policy that is being adopted by the head of the ruling authorities. All of the state's organs, branches, and figures are fully aware of these policies. Furthermore, these policies were enforced in a widespread manner which constitutes crimes against humanity and war crimes.

ISIS, Hay'at Tahrir al Sham, and armed opposition factions have practiced acts of torture, which constitute war crimes.

Recommendations

Security Council

1. The Syrian case must be referred to the International Criminal Court.
2. Punishments must be enforced on all the leaders, of any party, who were involved in acts of torture which violates the international humanitarian law and the Resolutions of the Security Council on Syria; particularly Resolutions 2042 and 2139.
3. Bind the Syrian government, and the other parties, to fully cooperate with the Independent International Commission of Inquiry on the Syrian Arab Republic, which was established by the Human Rights Council, in order to investigate torture practices inside detention centers.
4. Allow independent human rights organization to access any place in Syria.

The sponsoring Russian side

- The Syrian regime has to be stopped from dooming the de-escalation agreements. Otherwise, it will only be seen as an exchange of roles between the Russian regime, on one side, and the Syrian/Russian alliance on the other side.
- Start making progress in the detainees issue by revealing the fates of 76,000 forcibly-disappeared persons at the hands of the Syrian regime.

Acknowledgment and Condolences

Our most sincere thanks to all families, eyewitness, and activists who contributed majorly to this report, and our most heartfelt condolences for the victims' families and relatives.
