

The citizen Akram Idreis Enforced to Disappear since 2013

SNHR briefed the UN Working Group on Enforced or Involuntary disappearances, of the case of the citizen Akram Idreis from Al Raṣṭan city in Homs governorate and a resident of Al Amin street area in Al Nabak city in Damascus suburbs governorate, age 64 at the time of his arrest, and asked to request of the Syrian authorities to release him as he was arrested arbitrarily on 24 November 2013, as he was passing a checkpoint related to regime army forces of government forces in Al Amin street area in Al Nabak city in Damascus suburbs governorate by the members of the checkpoint who were in military outfits and took him to an unknown place.

His family had no information to determine his fate or whereabouts after that date, since then his fate remains unknown for his family and the Syrian Network for Human Rights as well.

Syrian authorities deny enforcing the citizen Akram Idreis to disappear, SNHR were unable to determine his fate until now, as is his family, and they are afraid of detention and torture in the event of repeating questions about him, as happened with many similar cases.

SNHR demanded the United Nations Committee on Enforced Disappearance to intervene with the Syrian authorities for his immediate release, and the release of thousands of cases of enforced disappearances and the need to determine their fate.

And despite the fact that the Syrian government is not a party of the International Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearances, but in contrast Party on Civil and Political Rights, the International Covenant, and the Arab Charter on Human Rights, which enforced disappearances violates both provisions. SNHR also confirmed fears of torture and possibly death under torture against enforced disappeared since 2011, and the numbers of enforced disappearances still mounting.
