I. Executive Summary

Since the commencement of the Cessation of Hostilities agreement, various Syrian governorates saw a relatively good and noticeable drop in death toll numbers, compared with the previous months since March 2011, and the main talk is about the areas under the control of the armed opposition; because the rest of the areas such as those under control of the Kurdish Democratic Union Party and the control of the Syrian regime, are not exposed to the dense daily bombardment which is the main way of killing as it is responsible for the death of at least 60% of the victims, destruction of buildings, and the displacement of its people. But in spite of all this, the violations did not stop, and mainly by the Syrian regime and its allies, which seems to be the greatest sufferer of the continuation of the cessation of hostilities.

One day after the declaration of the supreme body for negotiations to postpone their participation in the Geneva talks on 19 last April, the governmental forces and the Russian forces resumed attacking the areas beyond the control of the Syrian regime and the pace of killing returned to what it was before the Agreement on Cessation of Hostilities.

SNHR documented not less than 25 massacres that were committed in May 2016, detailed as follows:

A. Government Forces (security forces, army, local and foreign militias) committed 16 massacres
B. Russian Forces committed 3 massacres
C. ISIS (called themselves as Islamic State): 5
D. International Coalition Forces: 1
SNHR describes an incident as a massacre if it involves: “the killing of five unarmed people at least”, for more information on our methodology, please visit the following URL.

Conclusions:
Government Forces and Russian Forces:
1. SNHR affirms that the bombing, deliberate or indiscriminate, targeted armless civilians, thus, government forces and Russian Forces have violated the articles of the international law for human rights which guarantee the right to live. Furthermore, these violations were perpetrated during a non-international armed conflict which can qualifies as war crimes.
2. SNHR believes that these acts of killing that took place during these massacres can be classified as crimes against humanity.
3. These attacks, especially bombing, have caused causalities, injuries, and material losses. There are strong indicators that prove that the damage was deeply severe compared to the estimated military advantage. In all of the cases, we didn’t find any military targets before or during these attacks.
4. The magnitude massacres, the exaggerated strength, its military nature, and the coordinated approach of these attacks must be based on high orders, and a state policy.
Other forces:
According to this report, International coalition forces and ISIS have committed massacres that constitute war crimes. However, these crimes are not crimes against humanity along, as in the case of government forces that commit systematic and widespread massacres.
Recommendations:

To The United Nations and the Security Council

1. Transferring the Syrian issue to the International Criminal Court and stopping the disrupting of the decisions that must be adopted by the Security Council against the Syrian government. This disruption is a wrong message to all dictatorships around the world and support to the culture of crime.

2. Posing urgent punishment on those who are involved in the violations of human rights.

3. Binding the Syrian government to allow all relief and human rights organizations to enter Syria, in addition to the International Investigation Committee and allowing them to work freely.

4. Enforce an arms embargo against the Syrian government because it is using weapons in widespread attacks against civilians.

5. Security Council must shoulder its responsibility of preserving security and civil peace in Syria because the violations of the Syrian government entail a gross threat to international peace and security.

6. Listing the militias that are fighting with the Syrian government and have committed massacres, like Hezbollah and the other Shiite brigades, National defense Army and Shabiaha militia, on the international list of terrorist organizations.

7. Implementing the principle of “Protecting Civilians” adopted by the General Assembly in 2005, in Syria now, as it is most needed now in Syria.

8. With the crimes against humanity committed by the Syrian government, the international community should stop dealing with this government as an “official side” concerning the relief issues, and stopping supplying the Syrian government with most of the financial and humanitarian aids that, in most cases, are not being delivered to those who are in need and go instead to the areas that support the Syrian government.
