Report on the expanded and systematic usage of scud missiles by forces loyal to the Syrian government

Report :

of Syrian network for human rights on committing crimes against humanity as a result of using scud missiles against civilians by deliberate targeting of them.

Is there anybody except forces loyal to the Syrian government has scud missiles all over Syria? We mention that question in the beginning of the report because some organization and international human rights committees put reports' titles stating that all parties have committed crimes against humanity in an attempt to show it's substantive and neutrality. Although some groups of armed rebels have committed human rights violations, but they assured us that this is systematic work not individual works, and they didn't target civilians on the basis of denomination, religious, ethnicity, cultural, or party.

Crimes have systematically and widely been committed without any discrimination by the one who has bombed bakery , shelters in schools, churches, mosques, and hospitals by barrels demagoguery and warplane missiles, this is an evidence on the use of scud missiles.

In the case of Iraqi, United States of America considered scud missiles as one of weapons of mass destruction, but in the case of Syrian, we didn't hear appropriate international condemnation of using Syrian government to this type of weapons deliberately and inadvertently. So, Bashar Al-Assad, commander -in-chief of the Syrian Army considered it as a green light especially when scud missiles were used on free zones and reactions of the international community and the Security Council according that act were feeble, shameful and disgraceful to the Syrian people, although Security Council must maintain security and civil peace. Accordingly, he has increased use of these missiles and bombed residential district and erase it from the map of the globe.

Syrian government has carefully observed reactions of the international community and according to these reactions it committees its crimes. In the beginning, it used live bullets and then tanks and heavy artillery were used, and when it started using helicopters, the international community was silent, even when it used warplanes, missiles, and drums random demagoguery, still the international community was still silent. At this time, when it has used scud missiles, the international community has yet been silent and could not overcome Russian and Chinese veto, although it did it many times.

Syrian network for human rights documented launching 61 Scud missiles by forces loyal to the Syrian government with the place, time, witnesses, images and videos at various areas in Syria particularly the province of Aleppo and Raqqa in the north Syrian, while there has been no targeting of any area in south Syria.

Syrian network for human rights noted that all missiles used were directed toward appointed targets in certain city, not groups of the free army, except two cases were directed toward free army targeted, the first case targeted a senior commander in Duma, and the second case targeted Jarrah military airport in Rif Idlib, but there were 59 cases targeted groups of civilians. This means that they targeted civilians deliberately, and thus they committed crimes against humanity.

Major launch pads owned by the Syrian regime to launch ballistic missiles are:

- 1- Al-Qutayfah District in Damascus Suburbs ,
- 2- Al-Sbeneh area in Aleppo, and
- 3- Other launch pads in Rif Hamah.

Brigade 155 is located in the southern part of the Qalamoun District in northern Rif of Damascus, its commander is brigadier general Ghassan Ahmed Ghannam and his deputy is Namir Mayhoob, and its commander-in-chief is Issa Mansour.

It contains almost 800 missiles including 200 scud missiles, and some missiles equipped with chemical warheads. It is armory including long-range missiles possessed by the Syrian regime.

Distribution of Scud missiles that targeted Syria by Syrian governorates:

Province	Missiles Number
Aleppo	41
Raqqa	8
Idlib	6
Deir Ezzor	3
Hamah	2
Damascus Suburbs	1

This direct and deliberate targeting of civilians resulted in killing almost 200 citizens all of them were civilians including women and children, and injuring more than 820 citizens, 70 cases of them have suffered permanent disabilities.

In addition to the cost of material damage in facilities and buildings and infrastructure which reached to approximately 1.5 billion $.

Oley Solvang, a researcher in emergency affairs in the organization “Human Rights Watch” has confirmed that all regions toward which Al-Assad’s forces launched scud missiles, furthermore Syrian network for human rights assures that there isn’t any indication of these regions contain military targets except two cases, the first one is Duma City, and the second one is Jarrah airport in Idlib, while the other 43 cases targeted civilians intentionally and deliberately. We did not document any use of scud missiles during both of 2011 and 2012, but Bashar al-Assad began using these missiles in early 2013, where the first case of launching a scud missile was documented on

The launching of first scud missile from 155 Brigade in Qalamoun toward the village of Shalkh in Idlib which caused only material damage was documented on 03/01/2013.

Details and Appendixes by province:

Second: Raqqa province

The primary source of fear in this districts is targeting dams, such as the both of the Euphrates dam and the Baath dam, whereas the scud missile dropped at a 1.5 km distance from the Baath dam in EL – Baroud village on 12/2/2013, and another missile was drop down at a distance of 10 kilometers from the Euphrates Dam in nature reserve called Ayed in the south , the Euphrates dam held in behind an artificial lake with a length no later than 80 kilo meters and a width of 8 km and the distance between the dam and Raqqa city which embrace at least 1.3 million immigrants in addition to nearly half a million of its original inhabitants. Thus, if it was destructed, the water of dam will inundate the city's buildings up to the fourth floor. There won't be enough time to offload the city of residents because the water will cut the distance between the dam and the city, which approximately reach to 50 miles above in less than 15 minutes. After that the dam water will trend to destroy another city which located on the itinerary of the dam, this city is a city of Deir al-Zour, and the water will reach to it in less than 40 minutes.

The forces loyal to the Syrian government targeted the Raqqa district until this moment, using at least 8 scud missiles

Recommendations:

Syrian Network for human rights Indicates that the Syrian regime has at least for 800 ballistic missile including 200 Scud. It has amended some of them even to become very extreme devastating missiles, and to load them with chemical and biological warheads, thus they can destroy and erase entire villages, district them from world map, and don't leave no children, men and women alive in. Hence and on the basis of this detailed and extended report, we request and claim the international community represented in the Security Council for done its legal and ethical duties and maintaining security and civil peace.

We carry general commanding of the army ,the armed forces , all those involved in all brigades and military units that bombed and killed civilians, direct responsibility for the killing of the citizens of the Syrian, and destruction against the buildings. They are responsible directly, and must chastise, as well as it should not allow them to escape from punishment, and accusation them at the international criminal court by committing crimes against humanity.
