

322 Arbitrary Arrest Cases were Recorded during December

- First: Introduction
- Second: Details
 - Arbitrary arrest cases by government forces and its militias
 - Arbitrary arrest cases by extremist groups
 - Arbitrary arrest cases by armed opposition factions
- Releases
- Raids and Screenings that resulted in detentions
- Kidnappings that were carried out by unidentified groups
- Third: Recommendations

First: Introduction

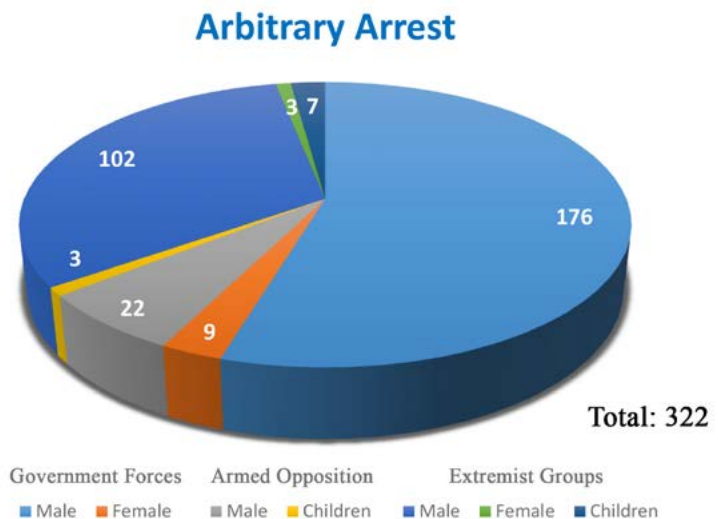

The details of any prisoner can be found by using the search engine on our websites. Also, the names and details of any prisoner can be submitted into our website. Our teams will add it to our archives once it is verified.

Second: Details

The following table shows the number of arrests that we recorded during the month of December. It should be noted that this the minimum number of arrests we were able to document in light of the ban and pursuit of our teams by government forces, extremist groups, and some of the armed opposition factions.

The Syrian government denies carrying out any kidnapping or arrest operations when it asked by prisoners' families. SNHR collects information about detainees from former detainees.

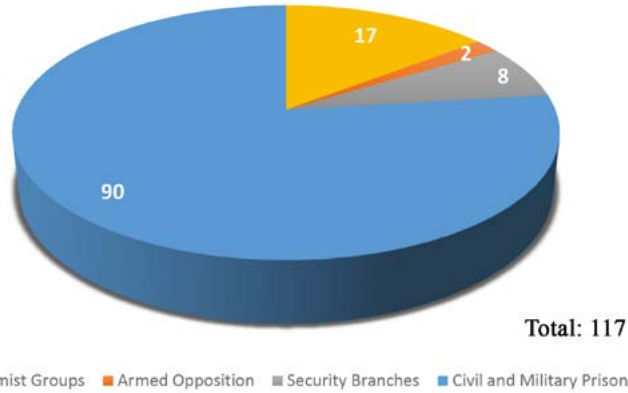

Arrests documented during Decembers are as follows:

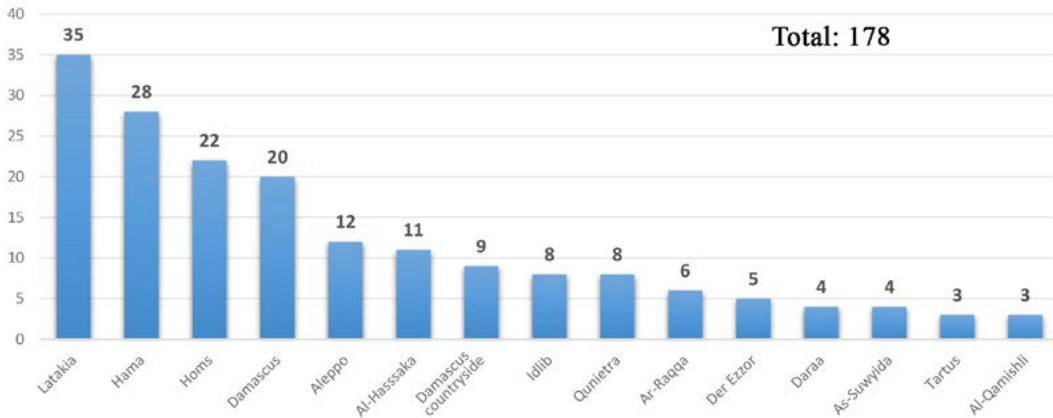

Releases from different detention centers were as follows:

Release from detention center

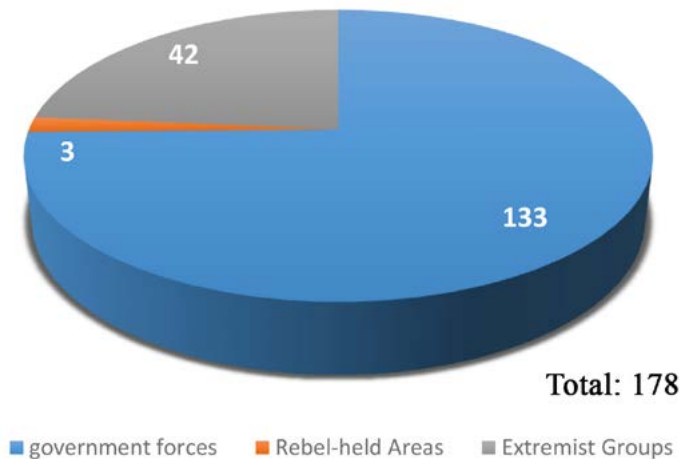

Raids and Screenings that resulted in detentions:

Raids and Screenings

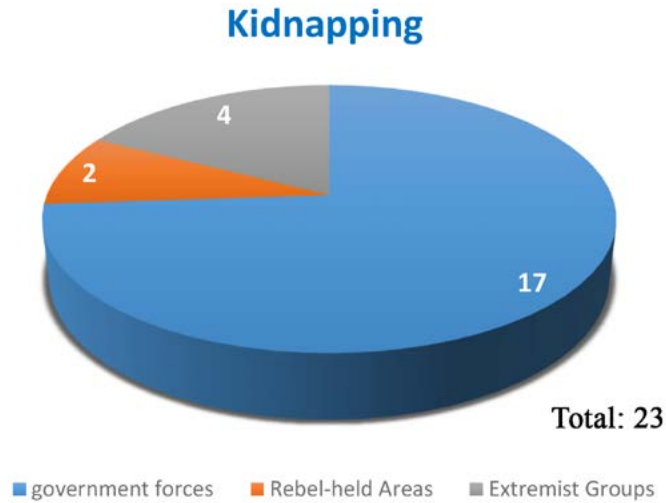

Parties responsible for the raids

Kidnapping that were carried out by unidentified groups

Recommendations

The Security Council

- 1- To insure the implementation of the resolutions: 2042, adopted on 14 May, 2012, and resolution 2139, adopted on 22 February, 2014, which was adopted to put an end to enforced-disappearance.
- 2- The United Nations and the Security Council should act upon their responsibilities in regard to hundreds of thousands of enforced-disappearance and detention cases in Syria.

