Extrajudicial Killing Claims the Lives of 94 Civilians, Including 32 Children, 10 Women, and Seven Victims Due to Torture, in Syria in August 2021

Daraa Governorate Saw the Largest Death Toll of Civilian Victims Killed by the Syrian Regime

Wednesday 1 September 2021

The Syrian Network for Human Rights (SNHR), founded in June 2011, is a non-governmental, independent group that is considered a primary source for the OHCHR on all death toll-related analyses in Syria.

I. Background and Methodology:

The documentation process to register victims killed in Syria is one of the most important roles performed by the Syrian Network for Human Rights (SNHR) since March 2011. This is all the more crucial since murder is the most prevalent of all the violations perpetrated, and the one which most profoundly affects the Syrian people, with countless families suffering incalculable and irreparable trauma through the loss of fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, friends, etc.

These violations have become so widespread primarily through Syrian regime forces’ and affiliated militias’ systematic killing of civilians, with these forces being almost the sole perpetrators of killings from the aforementioned date up to the beginning of 2012. The regime began by using tanks and artillery, then proceeded to also use warplanes and helicopter gunships which have deployed barrel bombs, in addition to Scud missiles and chemical weapons.

The entry of several other parties into the Syrian conflict has further increased the importance and complexity of documenting the victims killed in Syria.

This report records the death toll of victims whose deaths were documented by SNHR as taking place at the hands of the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces in Syria in August 2021, particularly focusing on those victims killed under torture, and victims amongst media, medical and Civil Defense personnel, paying particular attention to those massacres committed by the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces which the SNHR was able to document in this period.

We should note that in this context we use the term “massacre” to refer to any attack that resulted in the deaths of five or more peaceful individuals in the same incident.

The report also includes an outline of the most notable incidents during this period. Finally, we maintain the full details of every incident on the SNHR database.

The report catalogues the death toll of victims according to the perpetrator parties in the Syrian conflict. Accurately ascribing responsibility sometimes requires more time and investigation than usual, especially in the case of joint attacks. We also face additional challenges in assigning responsibility for the attack in some incidents of ground bombardment, especially those in which the source of the bombardment is an area adjacent to the control of another party among the controlling forces, and if we suspect the attack to have been perpetrated by either Syrian regime forces or Russian forces, given that the bombardment comes from the areas under their joint control, we assign the responsibility for the killing to the Syrian regime, as the party that brought about the Russian military intervention, continuing our investigations until we are able to conclusively identify the party responsible for the bombardment; the same applies if we suspect the bombardment to be by either Syrian regime forces or Iranian militias.
In addition, in cases where we are unable to definitively assign responsibility for a particular killing to one of two possible parties because of the area’s proximity to the lines of engagement, the use of similar weapons, or other reasons, the incident is categorized among ‘other parties’ until we have sufficient evidence to conclusively assign responsibility for the violation to one of the two parties.

The parties to the conflict who this report documents as committing extrajudicial killings are:

A. The main parties:
   • Syrian Regime forces (army, security, local militias, and Shiite foreign militias)¹
   • Russian forces
   • Hay’at Tahrir al Sham²
   • The Armed Opposition/ Syrian National Army
   • Syrian Democratic Forces (the Democratic Union Party)

B. Other parties

Through use of SNHR’s extensive database, we can catalogue the victims according to the governorate where they were killed, and also by the governorate from which they originally came. This report catalogues the death toll of victims according to the governorate in which they were killed, rather than by the governorate they originally came from.

In this report, we record only the death toll of civilians, whose deaths we were able to document during the last month. SNHR does not document the deaths of fighters and militants killed during the conflict, while some of the victims documented may have been killed months or even years ago, as in some cases of death due to torture, in these cases, where the deaths have only recently been confirmed, we include two dates, the date when we were able to document the victim’s death, and the date on which we think the death occurred.

The methodology adopted by the Syrian Network for Human Rights in documenting the victims can be seen at this link ³.

¹ We generally use the term ‘the Syrian regime’ rather than ‘the Syrian government’, because the nature of the ruling power in Syria is a totalitarian dictatorship based on ruling the nation in an authoritarian fashion through a very limited group of individuals, primarily the President of the Republic and his selected leaders of the security services, while the ministers, including the Prime Minister and the Minister of Interior, play a restricted, largely ceremonial role, which is limited to implementing precisely what the ruling regime orders, without any decision-making power or active role; this means that the government’s role is wholly subordinate and limited to serving the regime, with all the main powers being concentrated in the hands of the President of the Republic and the security services. Governance in Syria is wholly decided by the autocratic authority of the ruling family and there is no independent decision-making structure. Rather, the government is an empty façade there for show; the Minister of Interior receives orders from the security branches over which he nominally presides which are in turn under the command of the President, while the Minister of Justice cannot summon a civilian-level security agent other than the head of a security branch; the security branches, along with the president, are the true power and the governing regime in Syria.

² The United Nations has designated it as a terrorist organization

Extrajudicial Killing Claims the Lives of 94 Civilians, Including 32 Children, 10 Women, and Seven Victims Due to Torture, in Syria in August 2021

This report draws upon the ongoing daily monitoring of news and developments by SNHR’s team, and on information from our extensive network of various sources that has been built up over the course of our work since 2011. Our team follows up on incidents and related reports in a variety of ways in the effort to verify information and collect as much relevant evidence and data as possible. In some cases, researchers are able to visit the incident location immediately. However, this is a rarity in light of the incredibly high security risks, and given the frequency of daily violation incidents. SNHR’s customary policy in such cases is to rely on accounts from survivors who experienced the violation firsthand, as we try to reach them promptly, and secondarily on the accounts of those who witnessed or photographed the violation in question, in addition to analyzing available materials from open sources such as the Internet and media outlets; third, by talking with medical personnel who treated the individuals injured in these incidents, examined the deceased victims’ bodies, and identified the cause of death. The SNHR also provides a special form that can be completed by victims’ relatives with victims’ names and personal information so that the Victims Documentation Department can follow up on the information provided, verify its accuracy and then include it in the database.

The death toll of victims detailed on SNHR’s database includes extrajudicial killings by the controlling forces which occurred as a violation of either international human rights law or international humanitarian law or both, but does not include cases of natural deaths or those which occurred because of disputes between members of society or other such issues.

Our investigations confirm that all of the attacks included in this report that were carried out by the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces in Syria targeted civilian areas where we documented no military presence or armories before or during the attacks, and in which the perpetrators failed to issue any warnings to civilians prior to any of the attacks as required by international humanitarian law.

Also, there is great difficulty in determining which party was responsible for planting landmines, due to the multiplicity of forces controlling the areas in which these explosions occurred, and therefore we do not attribute the vast majority of deaths caused by landmines to a specific party. None of the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces in Syria have revealed maps of the places where they planted landmines. We have recorded continuing deaths due to landmines despite repeated appeals by the Syrian Network for Human Rights, and urgent requests for the essential intervention of international teams to help uncover the locations where landmines are deployed and to put pressure on the controlling forces in Syria to determine their locations of deployment in order to reduce the number of casualties among civilians resulting from them.

This report only represents the bare minimum of the actual severity and magnitude of the violations that occurred. Also, it doesn’t include any analysis of the profound social, economic, and psychological ramifications.
II. Summary of the Most Notable Killings in August:

August saw a continuation of the military escalation by the Syrian-Russian alliance forces in the Idlib region in northwest Syria. According to daily monitoring operations, most of the attacks were by artillery, with SNHR documenting the use of types of shells whose deployment we had not previously recorded in the Syrian conflict:

At dawn on August 20, 2021, four children, all siblings, were killed when artillery forces which we believe were Russian, who were assisted by a Russian surveillance plane overhead, fired a number of shells, equipped with the Krasnopol laser guidance system, at Kansafra village in Jabal al Zaweya in the southern suburbs of Idlib governorate, with one shell hitting the children’s family’s home in the eastern outskirts of the village.

Daraa governorate in southern Syria saw a continuation of the military escalation by Syrian regime forces, resulting in casualties. We note that the Daraa al Balad area has been under siege by Syrian regime forces and affiliated militias since mid-June 2021:

On Thursday, August 26, 2021, Syrian regime forces - stationed in al Panorama Stadium in Daraa city - used a missile launcher to shell Tafas city in the western suburbs of Daraa governorate, resulting in the death of a woman, named as Hafizah Mar’i al Rebdawi, and in the injury of six other civilians.

August saw continuing civilian deaths as a result of landmine explosions in different governorates and regions of Syria, with SNHR documenting the deaths of 15 civilians, including six children and one woman, bringing the civilian death toll caused by landmines since the beginning of 2021 to 132, including 50 children and 22 women.

On Sunday, August 1, 2021, the explosion of a landmine planted by an unknown party in Kafr Sajna village in the southern suburbs of Idlib governorate, which is controlled by Syrian regime forces, resulted in the death of a woman, named as Aalaa Abdul Karim al Eisa, and the injury of her brother.

On Wednesday, August 11, 2021, the explosion of a landmine planted by an unknown party near al Bara village in Jabal al Zaweya in the southern suburbs of Idlib governorate, which is under the joint control of factions of the Armed Opposition and Hay’at Tahrir al Sham, resulted in the death of a child, Muhammad al Sahou, from al Bara village.
As in the previous months, August saw the killing of victims at the hands of Syrian Democratic Forces, with SNHR documenting the deaths of seven civilians, including two children and one woman. We documented these forces carrying out a double-tap attack, which is a Russian policy that aims to kill and injure as many civilians as possible; on Thursday, August 5, Syrian Democratic Forces fired a guided missile targeting a recovery vehicle fitted with a crane on the outskirts of Hazwan village, which is administratively a part of al Bab city in the eastern suburbs of Aleppo governorate, killing two civilians, named as Mahmoud al Badi and Hasan al Badi. As the Civil Defense teams arrived to recover the victims, the same forces renewed their shelling using another missile which hit a Civil Defense ambulance, burning it and rendering it inoperable, and injuring a Civil Defense member.

Al Hawl Camp\(^4\), in the eastern suburbs of Hasaka, which is under the control of Syrian Democratic Forces, saw the continuation of killings by unknown gunmen. In August, we documented the deaths of eight civilians, including two women, at the hands of unknown gunmen who are believed to be affiliated with ISIS cells. Since the beginning of 2021, we have documented the deaths of 65 civilians, including 10 children and 20 women, in al Hawl Camp at the hands of unknown gunmen. The following are the cases of killing by unknown gunmen, which we documented in August:

The body of a 42-year-old Iraqi refugee, named as Farhan Mahmoud Baker, was discovered by local families in Section One of al Hawl IDP Camp on Friday, August 6, 2021, bearing signs of gunshot wounds.

The body of a 23-year-old Iraqi refugee, named as Attalah Antar Hayes, was discovered by local families in Section One of al Hawl IDP Camp on Friday, August 27, 2021, bearing signs of gunshot wounds.

In August, we documented the deaths of 45 civilians, including nine children and six women, at the hands of other parties, accounting for approximately 48% of the total death toll, including victims who died as a result of being shot by unknown parties (13 civilians, including two women):

On Thursday, August 26, 2021, Faisal Khalil al Halawat, a judge, was shot dead, by unidentified gunmen in Nawa city in the western suburbs of Daraa governorate, which is controlled by Syrian regime forces.

III. Death Toll of Civilian Victims:

In August 2021, SNHR documented the deaths of 94 civilians, including 32 children and 10 women (adult female), killed at the hands of the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces in Syria, bringing the documented death toll of civilian victims since the beginning of 2021 up to September 2021 to 946.

Extrajudicial Killing Claims the Lives of 94 Civilians, Including 32 Children, 10 Women, and Seven Victims Due to Torture, in Syria in August 2021

The death toll of civilian victims killed at the hands of the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces in Syria since the beginning of 2021 was distributed as follows:

August saw a significant decrease in the number of deaths compared to the previous month, July, with 48% of the victims who were documented killed in August being killed at the hands of other parties, while 36% of the victims killed at the hands of Syrian-Russian alliance forces.

The death toll we documented in August 2021 was distributed according to the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces as follows:
Extrajudicial Killing Claims the Lives of 94 Civilians, Including 32 Children, 10 Women, and Seven Victims Due to Torture, in Syria in August 2021

A. The main parties:
- Syrian Regime forces (army, security, local militias, and Shiite foreign militias):
  We documented the deaths of 25 civilians at the hands of Syrian regime forces, including 10 children and two women.

- Russian forces:
  We documented the deaths of nine civilians (eight children and one woman) at the hands of Russian forces.

- Hay’at Tahrir al Sham:
  We documented the death of one civilian at the hands of Hay’at Tahrir al Sham.

- The Armed Opposition/ Syrian National Army:
  We documented the deaths of seven civilians, including three children, at the hands of the Armed Opposition/ Syrian National Army.

- Kurdish-led Syrian Democratic Forces (the Democratic Union Party):
  We documented the deaths of seven civilians, including two children and one woman, at the hands of the Kurdish-led Syrian Democratic Forces.

B. Other parties:
We documented the deaths of 45 civilians, including nine children and six women, at the hands of other parties, distributed as follows:

- Landmines of unknown source: 15 civilians, including six children and one woman.
- Gunfire of unknown source: 13 civilians, including two women.
- Bombings whose perpetrators have not yet been identified: Three civilians, including two children.
- Killings by unknown persons: 12 civilians, including three women.
- Turkish border guards: Two civilians, including one child.

The death toll of civilian victims killed at the hands of the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces documented in August 2021 was distributed across Syrian governorates as follows:
Idlib governorate saw the highest death toll during this period compared to other Syrian governorates, accounting for approximately 23% of the total death toll, with about 45% of the death toll documented in the governorate being at the hands of Syrian-Russian alliance forces. Meanwhile, Daraa governorate saw the largest death toll of victims killed by Syrian regime forces, with approximately 44% of the total death toll of victims there killed by these forces.

IV. Death Toll of Victims Who Died Due to Torture, and Victims Amongst Media, Medical and Civil Defense Personnel:

A. Death toll of victims who died due to torture

SNHR documented in August 2021 the deaths of seven victims due to torture, bringing the death toll of victims who died due to torture at the of the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces in Syria since the beginning of 2021 up to September 2021 to 76.

The death toll of victims whose deaths due to torture were documented by SNHR at the hands of the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces in Syria since the beginning of 2021 was distributed as follows:
Extrajudicial Killing Claims the Lives of 94 Civilians, Including 32 Children, 10 Women, and Seven Victims Due to Torture, in Syria in August 2021

The last seven months have seen an increase in the death toll among victims documented by SNHR as dying due to torture in Syria, compared to January 2021, with the percentage of victims whose deaths we documented due to torture in the Syrian regime’s detention centers since the beginning of the year accounting for approximately 79% of the total death toll of torture victims.

The death toll of victims whom SNHR documented their death due to torture in August was distributed according to the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces as follows:

Syrian regime forces: Six.
The Armed Opposition/ Syrian National Army: One.
The most notable cases are:

Murhaf Hamid al Shehab, a secondary school student from al Safsafa village, which is administratively a part of al Mansoura town in the western suburbs of Raqqa governorate, was 21 years old at the time of his arrest by Syrian regime forces in May 2017, which took place as he was passing through one of the regime’s checkpoint near Athariya town in the eastern suburbs of Hama governorate while heading from Raqqa governorate to Hama city. Almost since that time, he has been classified as forcibly disappeared, with the Syrian regime denying his detention and preventing anyone, even a lawyer, from visiting him. On Friday, August 6, 2021, his family received information of his death. SNHR data from numerous sources confirms that he was in good health at the time of his arrest, indicating that he most probably died due to torture in a regime detention center in Damascus city. We can also confirm that Syrian regime forces failed to hand over his body to his family.

Ahmad Muhammad Khalifah Ayyash, a civilian suffering from psychological disorders, was arrested by Syrian regime forces personnel on Friday, August 20, 2021, in al Manshiya neighborhood in Daraa al Balad in Daraa city, and taken to an undisclosed location. On Sunday, August 22, 2021, his body was discovered near al Harbi Road adjacent to the Jordanian-Syrian border, south of Daraa al Balad, bearing signs of severe torture.

B. Death toll of medical personnel
SNHR didn’t document any deaths among medical personnel in August 2021.

C. Death toll of media workers
SNHR didn’t document any deaths among media workers in August 2021.

D. Death toll of Civil Defense personnel
SNHR didn’t document any deaths among Civil Defense personnel in August 2021.
V. Record of Most Notable Massacres Documented in August:

SNHR didn’t document any massacres in August 2021.

VI. The Most Notable Work Carried Out by SNHR on the Extrajudicial Killing Issue:

Since 2011, the SNHR has created complex electronic programs to archive and categorize the victims’ data, which the team collects and verifies, enabling us to catalogue the victims according to their gender, age, the date and place of death, method of killing used, type of weapon used, and perpetrator party, and to make comparisons between these parties. We can also distribute the death toll according to the governorate in which the incident of death occurred, and according to the governorate from which the victim originated, in order to show the extent of the loss suffered by the people of that governorate, and enables us to accurately ascertain the highest rates of violence documented in the case of each violation. SNHR’s Victim Documentation Department team constantly updates its comprehensive database, with all the data added to the SNHR’s database being retained securely, and several backup copies being stored in different locations.

Since 2011, we have also been exceptionally concerned about incidents involving the killing of children and women; there is hardly a statistic recorded on our database that does not include either, due to the vulnerability of these groups in the community, and because they give an indication of the rate of targeting of civilians. We later added other civilian groups which have played a key role in the popular uprising and later in the armed conflict, such as media, medical, relief and Civil Defense personnel.

For nearly ten years, we have issued daily death tolls of victims, as well as daily news reports on killing incidents. We also issue a monthly report detailing the death toll of victims, whose deaths were documented in Syria during the previous month, amongst civilians, as well as of those who died due to torture, in addition to issuing a biannual report and annual report, as well as dozens of other special reports documenting the total death toll or the death toll at the hands of one of the parties to the conflict in particular, in addition to a monthly report and special and periodic reports documenting the massacres committed on Syrian soil.

SNHR also periodically sends a special form to the United Nations Special Rapporteur on extrajudicial, summary or arbitrary executions, submitting cases of killings on which we were able to document all of the available data, having obtained the consent of each victim’s family members before submitting them. http://sn4hr.org/blog/category/special-rapporteur/extrajudicial-killing/

It should be noted that the United Nations has relied on the Syrian Network for Human Rights for all the statistics it has used in its analysis of victims in the conflict, given SNHR’s prominent role as one of the most credible sources. SNHR has also partnered with numerous United Nations bodies, in addition to governments of states, to provide them with statistics from our databases, in order to serve the path of justice, and ultimately to ensure the accountability and prosecution of criminals. SNHR is also used as a trustworthy source by a large number of Arab and international news agencies and many international human rights organizations.
VII. Conclusions and Recommendations:

Conclusions:

• The evidence we collected indicates that some of the attacks documented in this report were deliberately directed against civilians and civilian objects. These attacks along with indiscriminate bombardment have resulted in the destruction of facilities and buildings. There are reasonable grounds to believe that the war crime of attacking civilians has been committed in many cases.

• A large proportion of Syrians were killed as a result of landmines, and none of the perpetrator forces in the Syrian conflict have revealed maps of the locations where landmines were planted. This indicates total indifference to the lives of civilians, and children in particular.

• The Syrian government has not only violated international humanitarian law and customary law, but has also breached a number of UN Security Council resolutions, particularly resolution 2139 and resolution 2042 on the release of detainees, as well as resolution 2254, all without any accountability.

• The indiscriminate and disproportionate bombardment carried out by Syrian Democratic Forces is considered a violation of international humanitarian law, with the crimes of indiscriminate killing amounting to war crimes.

• The Armed Opposition/Syrian National Army has violated UN Security Council Resolution 2139 through carrying out attacks that are considered to violate customary international humanitarian law, causing civilian casualties or accidental injuries.

• Hay’at Tahrir al Sham has violated international humanitarian law, causing the deaths of civilians.

• The use of explosive arms to target densely populated areas reflects a criminal mindset intent on deliberately inflicting the greatest possible number of deaths, which is a clear contravention of international human rights law and a flagrant violation of the four Geneva Convention (articles 27, 31, 32).

• The controlling forces bear the responsibility to determine the identity of the perpetrators of the killings of all the civilians whose bodies have been found, and to open investigations into all the incidents included in the report.

Recommendations:

UN Security Council

• The Security Council must take additional steps following its adoption of Resolution 2254, which clearly states that “all parties immediately cease any attacks against civilians and civilian objects as such.”

• The Syrian case should be referred to the International Criminal Court and all those who are responsible should be held accountable, while Russia must stop using the veto, as it is a party to the Syrian conflict, and the UNSC states’ veto power should be withheld when crimes against humanity and war crimes are committed.

• The Security Council should ensure peace and security and implement the principle of responsibility to protect civilians’ lives and to save the Syrian people’s heritage and historical artefacts from destruction, looting and vandalism.
• The Security Council should request that all relevant United Nations agencies make greater efforts to provide food, medical and humanitarian assistance in areas where fighting has ceased, and in internally displaced persons’ camps, and follow-up with those States that have pledged voluntary contributions.

• There will be no stability in Syria without first achieving a political transition towards democracy and human rights in the country within a specific timetable, and this will only be achieved through the imposition of various pressures, mainly on the Syrian regime and its allies, because it will not give up power voluntarily.

International Community

• In light of the split within the Security Council and its utter inability to take any effective action, action should be taken at the national and regional levels to form alliances to support the Syrian people by protecting them from daily killing, as well as through increasing support for relief efforts. Additionally, the principle of universal jurisdiction should be enacted in local courts regarding these crimes in order to conduct fair trials for all those who were involved.

• SNHR has repeatedly called for the implementation of the ‘Responsibility to Protect’ doctrine in dozens of studies and reports and as a member of the International Coalition for the Responsibility to Protect (ICRtoP) after all political channels through the Arab League’s plan and then Mr. Kofi Annan’s plan proved fruitless, along with the Cessation of Hostilities statements and Astana agreements that followed. Therefore, steps should be taken under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations, while the norm of the ‘Responsibility to Protect’ doctrine, which was established by the United Nations General Assembly, should be implemented. By failing to do so, the Security Council is still hindering the protection of civilians in Syria.

• Renew pressure on the Security Council to refer the case in Syria to the International Criminal Court.

• Work on fulfilling justice and achieving accountability in Syria through the United Nations General Assembly and the Human Rights Council and to activate the principle of universal jurisdiction.

• Work to launch projects to create maps revealing the locations of landmines and cluster munitions in all Syrian governorates. This would facilitate the process of clearing them and educating the population about their locations.

• Pressure the Syrian regime and its allies to compensate the displaced victims, to repair homes and vital facilities, support the political transition process, and put pressure on all the parties obliging them to implement the political transition within a period of time not exceeding six months, so that millions of displaced people can have a safe and stable return to their homes.

Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR)

• The OHCHR should submit a report to the Human Rights Council and other organs of the United Nations on the incidents mentioned in this report and previous reports since these attacks were perpetrated by the parties to the conflict and the controlling forces.

• Work on preparing a special report on the use of landmines in Syria and the risks they pose to civilians, and identify the most prominent locations where landmines were planted.
Extrajudicial Killing Claims the Lives of 94 Civilians, Including 32 Children, 10 Women, and Seven Victims Due to Torture, in Syria in August 2021

Independent International Commission of Inquiry (COI)
- Launch investigations into the cases included in this report and previous reports. SNHR is willing to cooperate and provide further evidence and data.
- Focus on the issue of landmines and cluster munitions within the next report.

International, Impartial, and Independent Mechanism (IIIM)
- Collect further evidence about the crimes documented in this report.

The United Nations Special Envoy to Syria
- Condemn the perpetrators of crimes and massacres, and those who were primarily responsible for dooming the de-escalation agreements.
- Revive the peace process so that it can resume its natural course despite Russia’s attempts to divert and distort it, empowering the Constitutional Committee prior to the establishment of a transitional governing body.

The Syrian regime
- Stop indiscriminate shelling and targeting of residential areas, hospitals, schools and markets.
- End the acts of torture that have caused the deaths of thousands of Syrian citizens in detention centers.
- Ensure compliance with UN Security Council resolutions and customary humanitarian law.
- Provide detailed maps of the locations where the regime planted landmines, especially in civilian areas or near residential communities.

The Russian regime
- Completely cease the bombing of hospitals, protected objects, and civilian areas, and respect customary international law.
- As a guarantor party in the Astana talks, the Russian regime must stop thwarting de-escalation agreements, and apply pressure on the Syrian regime in order to end all indiscriminate attacks and allow the unconditional passage of humanitarian aid to besieged areas.
- Provide detailed maps of sites where Russian forces have launched cluster munition attacks, issue these to the United Nations and inform the Syrian public about them, thus facilitating the disposal of unexploded ordnance.
- Begin to achieve a breakthrough in the issue of detainees by revealing the fate of 84,000 people disappeared by the Syrian regime.
Extrajudicial Killing Claims the Lives of 94 Civilians, Including 32 Children, 10 Women, and Seven Victims Due to Torture, in Syria in August 2021

The Coalition (US-led coalition and Syrian Democratic Forces)

- The states supporting the SDF should cease all forms of support until the SDF commits itself to complying with the rules of international human rights law and international humanitarian law. This is primarily the responsibility of the supporting states. Providing the SDF with weapons and support while knowing that the SDF is engaged in violating the rules of international humanitarian law can be seen as a contribution to these violations.

- The SDF should form a special committee to investigate incidents of violations committed by SDF forces, disclose the details of their findings and apologize for them, hold those responsible accountable, and compensate the victims and affected.

- Provide detailed maps of the locations where the SDF planted landmines, especially civilian sites or near residential communities.

The Armed Opposition/ Syrian National Army:

- Ensure the protection of civilians in all areas under their control. These forces should also take care to distinguish between civilians and military targets and cease any indiscriminate attacks.

- Take punitive action against those who commit violations of international human rights law and international humanitarian law.

- Provide detailed maps of the locations where the Armed Opposition/ Syrian National Army planted landmines, especially civilian sites or near residential communities.

Humanitarian organizations

- Develop urgent operational plans to secure decent shelter for internally displaced persons.

- Exert efforts in landmine clearance operations in parallel with relief operations whenever the opportunity arises.

Acknowledgment

We thank all family members, relatives and friends of the victims, along with the eyewitnesses and local activists, whose contributions have enriched this report.
